Patti + Randy

Hello!

We want to express our deepest gratitude to you for considering us as potential parents for your child. The journey you are on is one we deeply respect, and we want to take this opportunity to share a bit about who we are and the life we hope to offer. We understand how important this decision is, and we are honored to be considered.

Our Journey to Adoption

We've come to the heartfelt realization that adoption is the beautiful journey we were meant to take as we're unable to have biological children of our own. We are filled with excitement and anticipation as we embrace this path knowing that we have an abundance of love and stability to offer a child.

Our Dog Darby

Meet Darby—our lovable, short-legged, gentle companion who loves joining us on adventures.

About Us

We met on a ski date at Afton Alps after connecting online, and it didn't take long for us to realize we were perfect for each other. Seven years of marriage later, we've built a life full of love, adventure, and shared passions. At the heart of our relationship is a love for family, adventure, and the great outdoors. Our bond is strengthened by mutual respect and a shared commitment to building a family. Now we are eagerly looking forward to welcoming a child into our lives to share these experiences and create new memories as a family!

About Patti

Patti values life's adventures, big and small! She is incredibly grateful to be healthy and active, having overcome childhood leukemia many years ago. She comes from a large, close-knit, Greek family living nearby where traditions, laughter, and love are at the center of everything. Patti enjoys working with children in orthotics and prosthetics, helping them lead full and active lives.
